A Day's Fire Record.

The Destroying Element at Several Places.

LYNCHBURG, VIRGINIA, VISITED.

Half a Block in the Business Portion of the City Wiped Out — The Western Union Telegraph Company a Heavy Loser—Accounts of Other Fires.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Sept. 16.—Lynchburg was visited last night by one of the most destructive fires known for years. Half a block on Main street was wiped out, in which were the Western Union Telegraph office, Knuckles boot and shoe store, Crump & Larkins' dry goods establishment, Crafts' cigar store and Lewis & Jennings' grocery. Loss is estimated at $100,000; two-thirds covered by insurance.

The fire started in the cellar of the Western Union office, over which is a tenement occupied by several families. Several parties narrowly escaped death, and two men were injured by the breaking of a ladder. The Western Union office was one of the greatest sufferers by the fire, the office being gutted and all the wires torn down, but with characteristic enterprise temporary quarters were secured and the business handled promptly.

An Oil Fire.

BUFFALO, Sept. 16.—Fire broke out yesterday at Holmes' oil refinery at the Nickel Plate tracks and Seneca street, caused by the explosion of an oil still. The flames spread to a large tar tank, and several small explosions occurred. Four employes were badly burned, and two firemen severely scorched.

Window Shade Factory Burned.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—The four-story brick building at 237 North Second street, occupied principally by Marcus, Abrams & Company, window shade manufacturers, was burned this morning. Loss $25,000, mostly covered by insurance.

Hotel Damaged.

PROCTOR, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The Guignax house, one of the summer hotels in the Catskill mountains, was damaged by fire last night to the amount of $10,000. The forty guests escaped in safety.

WYOMING ELECTION.

The Republicans Have Elected the Entire State Ticket.

CHEYENNE, Wy., Sept. 16.—Returns from the ten counties in Wyoming show that the Republicans have elected the entire state ticket. C. D. Clark is elected to congress over George T. Beck, son of the late Senator Beck, by 2,000 majority. The state legislature will be Republican by 35 majority on joint ballot.

The legislative session will begin within sixty days and candidates for the United States senate are coming to the front. One senatorship is conceded to J. M. Carey, for the last six years delegate to congress from Wyoming. For the other place ex-Governor Hoyt, ex-Congressman Downey and Judge M. C. Brown, all of Laramie, and DeForest Richards, a banker of Douglass, are aspirants. Governor-elect Warren, while not a candidate, may be made Carey's colleague.

THE CENTRAL STRIKERS.

Money Coming to Their Relief From Different Sources.

ALBANY, Sept. 16.—Secretary Hayes, of the Knights of Labor, arrived here from New York yesterday. He had with him a large sum of money, but said that he was not at liberty to say how much. Last night the money was distributed. One man claimed to have received $50, and another said that each had received $15.

Aid from Boston.

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—The freight handlers of Boston affiliated with District Assembly 300 and donated $750 to the New York Central strikers, and adopted resolutions indorsing the action of Master Workman Powderly and the executive board.

IN A LION'S CLAWS.

A "Hustler" at a Circus Meets With an Unfortunate Accident.

DENVER, Col., Sept. 16.—Wallace & Company's circus which exhibited here last week, left Trinidad Saturday for Clarendon, Tex. Near Barela a number of cars jumped the track delaying them so much that they had to cancel their date at Clarendon.

A hustler sitting on the top of one of the cages with his leg dangling down the side attracted the attention of a lion. The beast reached out with one of his paws and fixed its nails in the man's leg near the knee and stripped the flesh from the bone to the heel, and before the poor fellow could be released it was necessary to pry the beast's jaws open with iron bars.

Mysterious Stabbing Affray.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 16.—Shortly after 8 o'clock last evening James Shields and a man named Ware were dangerously, if not fatally, stabbed at the corner of Twelfth and Market streets. Shields had two wounds, which will doubtless terminate fatally, Ware was cut three times, but it is believed that he will recover. The men claim to have been attacked and stabbed by three strangers while on their way home, but it is believed they known who their assailants were.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—Mrs. Frances Constantine died at Manayunk today, aged 105 years and 6 months. She was born in Philadelphia. Her first husband was killed in the war of 1812.

TRAFFIC IN SLAVES.

Much Harm Already Done by the Proclamation at Bagamoyo.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The Zanzibar correspondent of The Times says European circles are confident that the Berlin government will undermine the slavery proclamation at Bagamoyo, but even that will fail to remedy the irreparable harm already done. The object of the Germans is to attract wealthy Arabs to the German coast line.

A German official recently presided at an auction sale of slaves. Serious difficulties are certain to ensue on the British coast line and probably the Arabs will attempt to coerce the sultan to withdraw his decree. The Emin case against Tippoo Tib has been adjourned for three months to enable Tippoo to be present.

Moussay Bey Captured.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 16.—Moussay Bey, the Kurdish governor of Armenia, who was sentenced to exile for the outrages perpetrated by him upon Christians in that province, and who escaped from custody some time ago, had been captured near Brussels, fifty-seven miles southeast of Constantinople. ELECTRICITY WILL KILL.

A New York Lineman Roasted to Death on the Wires.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—As the audience were leaving the New Park theatre at about 11:15 last night a lineman was seen to climb the electric light pole in front of the theatre and many stopped to watch him. Suddenly it was seen that something was wrong. The man became limp, and the sizzle of burning flesh was heard by the crowd below, who stood horrified.

It happened that Superintendent Fipps, of the Brush Electric Light company, had visited the theater. He came out at this moment and taking in the situation at a glance, procured assistance and released the man from his terrible position. But the victim was past all help and died before he reached the hospital, whither he was taken as soon as possible. It is learned that the man's name was Kopp but no other information concerning him was obtainable.

ROW OVER A RABBI.

His Former Congregation Throws Him Bodily Into the Street.

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 17.—Ex-Rabbi Max Roden, of the Polish synagogue, was beaten yesterday morning while at prayers and thrown bodily into the street. He was deposed last week because he opened a butcher shop and tried to get the trade of the congregation. Yesterday the New Year feast was in progress and a new rabbi, from New York, officiated.

Rodden attended with Harris Adolphus. Their right to remain in their seats was disputed. They resisted and were both beaten and thrown into the street. They have made complaint against seven members who will be arrested. Adolphus charges Henry Fogelstein of larceny of the buttons which the latter tore from his vest during the assault.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING.

A Stranger Calls a Woman to the Door and Shoots Her.

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 16.—A special to The World-Herald from Clinton, Iowa, says: A stranger in Grand Mound yesterday asked where the residence of Mr. Langdon, a contractor for the C. & N., was. He was directed to the house, and at the door called for Mrs. Langdon, whom he shot and killed as she came towards him.

Mr. Langdon immediately shot the stranger, inflicting fatal wounds. Further particulars have not been obtainable so far, as Mr. Langdon says he does not know who the man is. About two hours out she encountered a fierce gale and heavy seas. The Comrade parted the tow line on Saturday morning, twenty miles northwest of the Portage canal, and has not since been seen.

Switchmen's Meeting.

Annual Convention of the Order at Buffalo.

TWO HUNDRED DELEGATES.

The Switchman's Mutual Aid Association of North America Find That they Have Some Very Important Questions to Solve at this Gathering.

BUFFALO, Sept. 15.—Nearly 200 delegates representing nearly every railroad system in the United States and Canada, are here in attendence at the annual convention of the Switchmens' Mutual Aid association of North America. In view of the numerous local strikes which have taken place in different parts of the country during the past year, and the fact that the representatives of the grand lodge of the order participated in the recent conference of the Federation of Railroad Employes at Terre Haute, and which declined to order out its employes in aid of the Knights of Labor, the present convention is by all odds the most important ever held under the auspices of the order.

To quote one of the members of the grand lodge: "We, in common with other railroad orders, have reached a point where the utmost wisdom and skill is required to safely pilot the order through the dangers of the coming year. That other orders have the same grave questions to be faced can be no consolation to us, nor can it inspire us with confidence to meet them. We alone are responsible for the fate of our organization, and no friendly hand from any other order can move one single stone from our pathway. The dangers arise within the orders themselves, and must be met and overcome by their own membership, or the story of another labor organization on the rocks will be repeated."

The official headquarters of the grand officers for the fifth annual conclave are at the Genesee house, which was besieged throughout the early hours by delegates from distant parts of the country.

The convention was called to order in Central Labor Union hall at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The exercises in the morning were preluded by a street parade in which about 1,000 men, comprising lodges of switchmen, trainmen, firemen, the grand lodge officers and delegates and alternates participated. After the parade the delegates repaired to Music hall, where Mayor Bishop delivered an address of welcome. Grand Master Sweeney made a reply. Addresses were also made by Hon. William F. Sheehan and District Attorney Quinby. Sessions will be held morning and afternoon every day except Wednesday afternoon, when an excursion to Niagara Falls will be made. The business sessions will all be secret, but a press committee will give out for publication such action of the convention as it may be deemed advisable to make known.

In the afternoon the convention went into secret session at the Central Labor Union hall. There were 110 members present, representing nearly every state in the Union and a number of points in Canada. After the appointment of committees, Grand Master Sweeny read his annual report.

Quaker City lodge, No. 73, of Philadelphia, presented a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, in which the supreme council of the Federation of Railway Employes was indorsed for its action in the New York Central strike, the position taken by the grand lodge officers in the recent Chicago trouble, and recommended Grand Master Sweeney for re-election.

The telegram to the convention from Grand Master Sargeant, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, states that the convention of that body in San Francisco has unanimously indorsed the administration of the grand lodge officers. At 6 a. m. adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning when Grand Master Sweeny will finish his report.

Yesterday evening a complimentary ball was given the delegates in Music hall.

Grand Master Sweeney was asked if he would present a report on the meeting of the Federation at Terre Haute.

"The minutes of the conference will be read," he replied, "but they will not be given to the public. It knows the result of the deliberations of the conference and that is sufficient. There will be considerable work before the convention. Amendments to the constitution will be considered, committees will report, the progress of the secret work and lodge work will be made known and the financial condition of the order will be looked into."

Asked if the association as a body approved of the action of the Federation in declining a general tie up, Mr. Sweeney replied: "Unanimously. It indorses it unanimously."

This was discussed for some time, but pending action on the resolution the house adjourned.

The ship was sailing with main and foresails, fore and main stay sails. The captain of the Challenger gave Capt. Collier of the La Normandie a letter for the owner of the former vessel, Mr. Sewall, of Bath, and is awaiting help.

The Cowles-Hale Case Ended.

MONTREAL, Sept. 16.—When the case of C. C. Hale, of Cleveland, O., charged with shooting with intent to kill his brother-in-law, Eugene H. Cowles, in this city last June, was called in court of queen's bench, the counsel for the prisoner said he wished to withdraw the plea of not guilty of the charge and substitute one of aggravated assault. The opposing counsel accepted the plea and said they were unwilling the prosecute. Judge Cross summed up the case and said he would impose a fine of $500, which was promptly paid and the case came to an end.

Wilson, of the state prison, informed Mrs. Eva Hamilton yesterday of the death of her husband, Mr. Robert Ray Hamilton, but could give the widow no further particulars than what was brought to the prison by the reporters. Mrs. Hamilton on learning the news seemed greatly affected and burst into tears, and begged to be left alone with her sorrow. Later the prison physician visited her cell to prescribe for her extreme nervousness. Shortly afterward Keeper Patterson visited her cell, when she talked to him more confidentially than she ever did since her incarceration.

Some weeks ago she requested the keeper to try and find Ray Hamilton and to make overtures to him. The keeper tried to locate him through friends in New York, but failed. A petition for the pardon of Mrs. Hamilton has been before the court of pardons of New Jersey, and she wanted Ray Hamilton informed of the fact that if he would not interfere with her pardon she would not further resist his application for divorce. All she wanted was her liberty and the custody of the child now in Philadelphia.

ALAS!

How wretched is the man who has fallen a victim to Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, or diseased Liver, with all the horrible attendants. Look upon the picture. Poor man, being tired of dragging out a miserable existence, he is the picture of despondency; altogether, he is rather a forlorn specimen. Do we pity him? Of course; but at the same time feel assured that in a measure he is to blame for the bad state into which he has fallen. A sure, safe, speedy and easy cure can be found in Simmons Liver Regulator—Nature's own remedy. No mercury or deleterious drugs, not unpleasant to the taste, and always reliable—just such a remedy as you can put your faith to without a shadow of disappointment. Read the testimonial, don't take our word for it:

"I have been subject to severe spells of Congestion of the Liver, and have been in the habit of taking from 15 to 20 grains of calomel, which generally laid me up for three or four days. Lately I have been taking Simmons Liver Regulator which gave me relief, without any interruption to business." J. HUGG, Middleport, Ohio.

England to Take a Census.

The bills for taking the census next year have been published. For the most part the arrangements are much the same as they were nine years ago. The census day is fixed for Sunday, the 5th of April. The particulars to be asked for in England and Wales are the name, sex, age, profession or occupation, condition as to marriage, relation to head of family and birthplace of every person who abode in any house on the night of the census day, showing also whether any such person was blind or deaf and dumb or imbecile or lunatic. The only new question to be put is one recommended by the census committee—namely, where the occupier is in occupation of less than five rooms, as to the number of rooms occupied by him.

One particular that was asked for at the last census and is now omitted, in accordance with the committee's recommendation, is the "rank" of each person. In Scotland the matters to be inquired into are the same as those in England, except that the new one does not relate to the number of rooms occupied, but is whether any person speaks Gaelic only, or both Gaelic and English. Neither in England, nor in Scotland, nor in Wales, it will be observed, is any question to be put as to religion. In Ireland, however, the "religious profession" of each person is, as before, to be asked for.

The other information to be obtained in Ireland includes the sex, age, birthplace and occupation. However, there is a provision in the Irish bill that the constabulary are also to take an account of all such further particulars as by the instructions of the lord lieutenant's chief or under secretary they may be directed to inquire into.—London Times.

Tapped a Volcano.

Intelligence has just reached here of a remarkable phenomenon five miles west of Goodland, I. T., and about thirty miles northwest of this city. Some time since a white man named Charlie Gooding employed an Irishman named Mike Duhaney to dig a well on his place. A depth of sixty feet was reached at noon. After noon Duhaney started to go down to resume work. When about twenty feet below the surface he screamed to his assistants above to haul him out quick, as he was burning up. He was pulled up in an unconscious condition, and it was two hours before he revived.

The poor fellow was literally blistered. A coat which had been thrown across the windlass was scorched till it crumbled to pieces. The rope was also burned until it fell apart. People of the neighborhood are much puzzled over this freak of nature, and many are greatly alarmed. Others take a more hopeful view, and believe that it is natural gas. No scientific investigation has been made, but it looks as if the internal fires of the earth are about to find an outlet at that point in a geyser or volcano.—Paris (Tex.) Cor. New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Hay Fever Preventive.

Dr. William Thompson, of Fourth avenue, is a hay fever victim, and suffers terribly about this season every year. Before the 16th of August in each year he lays in five or six dollars' worth of medicine. The fever was two or three days late this year, but after calling on Frank Calhoun to exchange notes, and hearing him sneeze, Dr. Thompson began also. He has invented a device which he thinks will eventually save him the yearly infliction, but he didn't have it perfected in time for this season. It is a padded steel spring, or clamp, which, fastened on the nose, prevents the entrance of the pollen of the rag weed bloom.

The doctor caught this idea from witnessing prize fighters whose noses were like those of the heathen gods the psalmist talks of—they smelled not—being rendered useless in the business prosecuted by the pugs. The doctor thought that if a prize fighter could breathe permanently through his mouth there was no reason why he couldn't during the short time of the reign of hay fever. Hence the invention.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Tale with a Moral.

A special six inch gun has just been made at the naval ordnance foundry at Washington, and the ordnance officers are tickled half to death over the fact that it has been constructed in fifty-two days.

It is a small gun, as guns go nowadays, and it wouldn't be worth much for defense against a first rate power. But if such a power should attempt to take it would take at least fifty-two days to make another one like it.

And in fifty-two days from the declaration of war a foreign fleet could have bombarded New York and Boston and Baltimore and Charleston, and sailed away again. In these days nations don't wait a year after declaring war before beginning to fight.

The obvious moral is that we must prepare for contingencies while there is time and opportunity.—New York Sun.

Almost as Big as a Bird.

A few days ago a [illegible] front of Peters' food store, on [illegible] avenue, pranced about and [illegible] down. Men who came [illegible] discovered that a horsefly was sucking his proboscis into the animal's hide. They brushed the fly off, and returned him, sent the bottle to Professor Lintner. He now forms one of the professor's notable specimens. The fly measures 2¼ inches spread of wings, and is the largest horsefly that Dr. Lintner ever saw.—Albany Journal.

AN AGED HEROINE.

A Canadian Woman Once Celebrated in Both Hemispheres.

A recent demonstration [illegible] called to the public memory of a woman whose heroism [illegible] of this continent thirty years ago and won upon Queen Victoria [illegible] stowal of [illegible] Abigail Becker, the hero[illegible] though it was in November that she exercised the [illegible] of a true daughter of Canada.

MRS. ABIGAIL BECKER.

She was the daughter of Charles and Mary Jackson and the wife of Jeremiah Becker, with whom she resided on the lonely sand spit running out from the Ontario side into Lake Erie, and known as Long Point—celebrated a few years later for the encounter between two noted American pugilists. Mr. Becker was a trapper, and his wife often assisted in his hardy labors. They lived many miles from the nearest neighbor, and on the night of Nov. 24, 1854, she was left alone with her stepson, her husband having gone to the main land for provisions.

The most terrible storm known for many years came on suddenly, and at daylight she saw the schooner Conductor a wreck off shore, the captain and six men clinging to that part of the rigging which was still above water. Hastening to the nearest point on the beach she kindled a fire to attract the attention of the men, and wading into the almost icy cold water she signaled for them to drop off one at a time and she would save them. They hesitated long, but it was death to remain much longer exposed as they were, and Capt. Hackett was the first to venture.

The waves carried him well in, but he was so stiffened by the cold that he could not resist the undertow, and was carried back. Mrs. Becker heroically swam to him, dragging him to the land, and by long and vigorous exertions succeeded in restoring his senses. Her stepson had meanwhile brought hot tea and liquors, which so stimulated the captain that he was able to stand and signal for another. A second was saved, but her stepson tried to aid the third and both went down. The woman dived and brought both to shore. Then she had to abandon the four on the wreck, and partly carry, partly drive, for she had to beat one of them along, the others to her cabin.

One by one the four others were saved, and when Mr. Becker returned he found them wrapped in all the clothing the cabin could afford, and the woman, with but a single garment, maintaining the fire and feeding the men with stimulants. All Canada was interested, and then it transpired that Mrs. Becker had, while a young woman, saved the lives of some ladies when their yacht capsized. Queen Victoria sent her a sum of money and memorial, the New York Life Saving association had a medal struck for her and Canada added substantial rewards. The noble woman, however, declined any large sum and continued to labor for a meager existence, though not under such privations, as her husband obtained a farm near Port Rowan, Ont. The story of the shipwreck and rescue is poetically told in the Canada school readers by Miss Amanda T. Jones, sister of one of the rescued men.

Planting Joss.

The Chinese of New York city have had bad luck of late. WOMAN'S WAY.

She Generally Has It Despite All Odds.

WHAT MEN DO FOR HER SAKE.

A Lover Who Has Changed His Faith and Name—Mrs. Woodworth's Strange Power—How a Man Was Lured to Ruin and Then to Jail—A Pretty Flower Girl.

Roland Bernard Gelatt, whose espousal of the Jewish faith and a fair daughter of Israel at the same time has been chronicled extensively, is a newspaper man. Geographically speaking his journalistic experience has been wide. In Minneapolis, Detroit and Kansas City he has figured in newspaper circles, and he is equally well known in several smaller cities. He is an Iowan by birth and a printer by trade. When he went to Cornell university he found his mastery of a trade useful. Not being provided with a superabundance of cash he sought for means to defray the necessary expenses of a college course. A case on one of the morning papers of Ithaca was assigned him, and so he stuck type by night and studied by day until he was graduated.

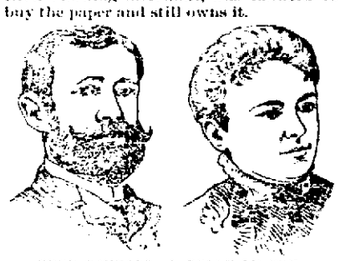
After a brief connection with the Iowa press, notably The Dubuque Herald, Mr. Gelatt made his way to Minneapolis. There he served as managing editor of The Tribune under the regime of Gen. Nettleton and C. A. Nimmocks. When Mr. Nimmocks bought The Evening Journal Mr. Gelatt was installed as managing editor. The sale of The Journal ended Gelatt's connection with the paper, and he removed to Detroit to take the editorship of The Tribune. In a year this paper was sold, and Gelatt went to Kansas City with a party of Detroit newspaper men who purchased The Kansas City News. His connection with The News was brief, and in the early part of 1885 he went back to Minneapolis to aid Mr. Nimmocks in the establishment of The Evening Star, which is now The Evening Tribune. After a few months' stay in Minneapolis he once more suffered the misfortune of having the paper sold over his head, and betook himself to Kansas City, where, in association with Robert A. Corrigan, he established The Morning Globe. A lack of capital embarrassed the proprietors, and after the fourth day of publication they began seeking for a purchaser. Mr. Louis Hammerslough, a retired clothing merchant, was induced to buy the paper and still owns it.



FRED KIMBALL—ESTELLE LE BON.

Editor Gelatt's romance began while he was with The Globe. An advertising solicitor, Samuel Reefer, a Hebrew, had a young daughter, Ada, who was employed as a stenographer in the business office. Gelatt's association with her ripened into love. She reciprocated his affection, but the customs of her race stood between them. Ordinarily inflexible in his adherence to personal theories and beliefs, Gelatt yielded to the coaxing voice of Cupid. If his sweetheart would not marry him as a Gentile he would become a Jew. So he sought out Rabbi Bukowitz and presented the case to him. The rabbi decided to accept Gelatt if he would demonstrate the sincerity of his conversion. "Defer your marriage eighteen months," said he; "meantime study our doctrines and live according to our creed. If after this period of probation you still desire to embrace our faith, come to me and I will admit you."

With this promise Gelatt had to be contented. His period of probation was passed away from Kansas City, for leaving The Globe he went to Minneapolis to edit the newly established Times, and thence to Ivy City, where he is now connected with The Tribune. But neither the lapse of time nor separation from his intended wife weakened his resolution, and when he reappeared in Kansas City in the presence of the congregation he renounced his connection with the Christian faith, de-

THE FLOWER GIRL.

[illegible] the doctrines of the [illegible] and the name of Ben[illegible] assumed to bring up [illegible] born to him in [illegible]

[illegible] conversion was [illegible] the altar of the Bridgetown [illegible] He was in total ignorance of the doings at the synagogue. Not until the publication of the story in the papers did he know that his son had renounced his religion and his name. "I have ordered him never to darken my doors again," said Mr. Gelatt, sr., the other day. "I have notified him not to write me, as his letters will be returned unopened."

In a general way Gelatt's case can hardly be called a remarkable one, for parallels to it are furnished by people of nearly every station in life. It is not so very long ago that the Duke of Edinburgh formally abjured the Episcopal faith, and became a member of the Greek church that he might marry a Russian princess. Indeed love laughs at creeds much as it does at locksmiths, and, regretfully it must be added, love, or its base counterfeit infatuation, laughs also at violated laws, and goes gleefully along the seductive pathway of passion to the steep cliff of irremediable catastrophe.

Honest motives and sincere conviction undoubtedly influenced Mrs. Gelatt to desire her husband's change of faith, but neither of these can be attributed to Estelle Le Bon, the woman for whom Fred Kimball, of Worcester, Mass., abandoned family, home and friends and became a fugitive from justice. Her fascinations were entirely of the baleful order. She was the partner of his guilt and of his flight, kept him company during a European tour until his stolen money gave out, and then, returning to America, lured him to New York, greeted him at the dock with a Judas kiss and slipped from his embracing arms that detectives might clasp the handcuffs on his wrists. Now, without a friend, Kimball awaits in a prison cell the sure punishment of his crime—the victim of his own weakness and of the wiles of a wicked woman.

It is pleasant to turn from contemplation of this darkly shaded picture to view one limned in less lurid colors—that of a bright maiden whose fascinations do not blight, and who is so impervious to the friendly advances of her patrons that they do not even know her name. They know her only as "Boston's pretty flower girl," and all the young fellows, and many staid business men as well, go out of their way to purchase a posy from her basket.

MARIA B. WOODWORTH.

Writes a reporter, evidently while under the spell of her charms: "She is soft in face and strong in body, and she never sells a rose or a pink that the admiring buyer does not feel the absurdity of taking the flower and leaving her. But she has an eye only for business, and the same may be said of her smile."

But it is not in Cupid's court alone that woman rules. Other spheres of activity and other sets of emotions come under her domination. There, for example, is the case of Maria B. Woodworth, a not overly handsome middle aged woman, who is the sensation of the hour at St. Louis. In her role of "trance evangelist" she has secured a large number of converts, mostly males, and thousands crowd to the banks of the Mississippi each Sunday to witness the baptizing of her followers. She seems to exercise a strange power over the people who throng her meetings—a fascination of such remarkable nature that some observers declare that she hypnotizes her hearers. Her influence has become so great and, as is alleged, so dangerous that certain medical men have begun an inquiry as to her sanity.

Another Sad Failure.

The other forenoon a man was leaning over the railing of the bridge at one of the piers and looking down the bay, when another man came along and accosted him with:

"Excuse me, sir, but can"——

"Never am without it," interrupted the first, as he turned and presented a plug of tobacco.

"Thanks, but I don't chew. I wanted to ask you"——

"Yes, I've got a match," he interrupted again, as he pulled one from his vest pocket.

"I don't want a match. I want to ask"——

"Go and buy your own cigars," growled the first as he [illegible] away. "No use [illegible] to accommodate [illegible] get kicked." New York [illegible]

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below:

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days' trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not pretrail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other.

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling real miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and had for some time, like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it." MRS. ELLA A. HUNTING THE MURDERER.

Remarkable [illegible] by the Cincinnati police.

The [illegible] detectives of Cincinnati have [illegible] on earth the most thorough [illegible] of recent times, in which [illegible] of crime [illegible] been beaten, [illegible] robbery and burial of vice exploded, [illegible] the extent of exploring beds of [illegible] and the sinkholes and crevices in [illegible] searched through, the results [illegible] of the criminal classes being as [illegible] as those described by Dickens in the Bill Sykes episode of "Oliver Twist."

After all the man was found by a sort of accident at a lumber camp on the Kentucky side of the river, ten miles from the city, and so great was the public interest that within a few minutes after the arrest was telegraphed a large crowd had gathered to witness his arrival, and a score of policemen had all they could do to keep off the crowd and get him into the prison. His name is Ed. McCarthy, and he has been a criminal from the start. At the age of 18, in August, 1884, he entered the Ohio penitentiary on a sentence for grand larceny, and served till October, 1886. He returned to Cincinnati, resumed his criminal associations and enlisted for the present by killing Charles Natterman and badly wounding the latter's companion, Charles Mitchell, from mere jealousy, their friends say, in self defense, McCarthy says.

ED. MCCARTHY.

The curious feature of the case was the great number of "clews" obtained, at least fifty men in one day declaring they had seen McCarthy, and all were positive. Several swore to having seen him in saloons; one had met him in Spring Grove, and so the police surrounded and thoroughly searched that cemetery; another was positive he was in Deer Creek tunnel; four others located him in every old rookery in the city. Four other murderers were awaiting their preliminary examination when McCarthy was brought in, and the authorities report an epidemic of crime in the city and vicinity.

A MECHANICAL FIEND.

Truly Diabolical Attempt on a San Francisco Man.

Mr. John Ferguson, saloon keeper, of San Francisco, went home the other night by a new route, being compelled to cross the street before his house by obstructions in front of a new building, and to that happy accident he owes it that he is alive today. Some one had placed a most ingenious infernal machine on his front steps, and had he come the regular way he would have stepped on it without seeing it and received a bullet in his abdomen.

As he crossed the street the lamp behind him threw a strong light on the steps, and he saw there "a little curlacue thing like a snake," he says. Stepping gingerly around it, and waiting to see if it moved, he saw by the light shining on the other side of it that it was of metal. He picked it up and found it a loaded pistol fastened to a lot of heavy iron and cocked. The trigger was wired to a cane and the cane lay on the step, so that when touched the pistol would have been discharged, and as the barrel stood at an angle of 45 degs. the ball would have struck the victim in the lower part of the body and ranged upward.

HOW THE PISTOL WAS PLACED.

Mr. Ferguson admits that he was "greatly disturbed." Unscrewing the pistol he showed the contrivance to two gentlemen who came along, but both hurried away, declaring that the locality was dangerous. He waited till his nephew, Mr. Price, came home after midnight, and they took the concern to Chief of Police Crowley. The detectives at once declared there was "a woman in it," but Mr. Ferguson swears that his relations with the whole sex are pleasant. They also declared that some mechanic had a hand in it, for the welding was done in a workmanlike manner.

The heavy U of iron lay flat on the step. In it was welded a small bar, inclined at an angle of 45 degs., and the pistol was firmly fastened to that with copper wire. It is 38-caliber, double action, and the lightest kick on the cane would have set it off—truly a fiendish contrivance.

Committed Murder and Suicide.

For many years John M. Chenoweth was the proprietor of a "swell" saloon at San Francisco, and Richard T. Carroll, of the liquor firm of Carroll & Carroll, was his financial backer. Some weeks ago Carroll, who had become displeased with Chenoweth's political and personal conduct, demanded a settlement.

The payment of his entire indebtedness would have left the saloon man penniless, and the prospect of legal proceedings apparently unbalanced his mind. At any rate, when he called on his backer one afternoon recently he [illegible] squared accounts," as far as [illegible] this world is concerned, by killing him and then committing suicide. The double tragedy created a great sensation, as both men were well known and popular in certain circles.

J. M. CHENOWETH.

A resident of Gallitzin, Pa., after purchasing a pair of mules recently found that one of them had a plaster of Paris hoof—the fellow was coming off and sticking in the mud. He failed in his effort to "trade back."

Over $2,500 in gold was "panned out" from a gravel bed for many years in a [illegible] Philadelphia mint, which [illegible] turned the other day that the precious metal might be extracted.

guarantee Dr. Acker's Blood Elixir, for it has been fully demonstrated to the people of this country that it is superior to all other preparations for blood diseases. It is a positive cure for syphilitic poisoning, ulcers, eruptions and pimples. It purifies the whole system and thoroughly builds up the constitution. Sold by H. C. Hoberman & Co. and W. B. Foye.

No Norwegian girl is allowed to have a beau until she can bake bread and knit stockings, and as a consequence it is said every girl can bake bread and knit long before she can read or write.

It is astonishing how rapidly the feeble and debilitated gain strength and vigor when taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. For what are called "broken-down constitutions," nothing else has proved so effective as this powerful but perfectly safe medicine.

She Was Completely Cured.

A daughter of my customer suffered from suppressed menstruation, and her health was completely wrecked. At my suggestion she used one bottle of Bradfield's Female Regulator, which cured her. J. W. The Wonderful Healing Properties of Darbys Prophylactic Fluid.

Wherever a preventive, healing, cleansing and deodorizing injection or wash is required use Darbys Prophylactic Fluid. Any inflamed surface, external or internal, treated with the Fluid will be quickly relieved. It has restored cures that had resisted the most medical skill.

When a man has a hacking cough and looks as if he were in the last stages of consumption, it is amusing to the Binghamton Republican to see how particular all the doctors of his acquaintance are to bow to him.

The use of calomel for derangements of the liver has ruined many a fine constitution. Those who for similar troubles have tried Ayer's Pills testify to their efficacy in thoroughly remedying the malady, without injury to the system.

Can't Sleep Nights

is the complaint of thousands suffering from asthma, consumption, coughs, etc. Did you ever try Dr. Acker's English Remedy? It is the best preparation known for all lung troubles. Sold on a positive guarantee at 25c. and 50c. Sold by H. C. Hoberman & Co. and W. B. Foye.

Catarrh

Is a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this loathsome and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. The sooner you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of physicians, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was about discouraged, when a friend urged me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of treating this obstinate disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 113 River st., Lowell, Mass.

How often do we see this on the faces of children and, alas, of people who otherwise are healthy? What causes it? Bad Blood. The thought is terrible; the trouble is worse. No ordinary help can remove it. It requires something unusual. Do not take cheap sarsaparillas or blood purifiers. You must have something that has proven its power in both Europe and America. NOTABLE MASON C EVENT

The Grand Council and Grand Chapter to Meet in Marion Next Week -The Program.

Next week will be a memorable one in Masonic circles in Marion. The sixtieth annual assembly of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters and the seventy-fourth annual convocation of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of Ohio will be held here on next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept 23, 24 and 25.

A large attendance of Masons from all parts of Ohio is assured and Marion will be in the best of order to entertain them. Preparations are under way for extensive decorations, and the local committees have their plans all arranged to look after their guests in a creditable way.

According to the program the Grand Council will assemble Tuesday at 9 a.m. The day will be devoted to the business of the grand body. In the evening at 7:30 there will be an exemplification of the Royal and Select Master's degree, at Masonic Hall, to be followed by the conferring of the Super-Excellent degree by Past M. I. G. M., Henry Theobald, assisted by members of Marion council.

The Grand Chapter convenes at 9 a.m. Wednesday, and the day will be devoted to the business of that body. In the evening the Order of High Priesthood will be conferred at Masonic Hall.

At the court house an informal reception by the Masonic bodies of Marion will be given the delegates and their ladies and the ladies of Marion. The court house will afford a splendid place for a brilliant reception and the event will doubtless be a very notable one. The Marion ladies are relied upon to add to the brilliance of the occasion.

The committee of arrangements has secured the common pleas court room for the meetings of the grand bodies. The headquarters of the Grand Chapter officers will be at Hotel Marion, and the Grand Council officers at the Kerr House.

—There was some strife at the Third ward primary meeting Monday evening over the selection of congressional delegates. It took two counts of the ballots to decide a tie between Dr. Nichols and George Crawford. The result was a victory for the editor, or his friends rather, who were doing the fighting for him.

—There are movements on foot that are sure to result in a splendid course of lectures this winter. The indications are gratifying, though not definite in their nature as yet.

—Miss Nellie Linsley has returned home from her northern vacation, having enjoyed a delightful time.

—Clark Bush, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was the guest of his uncle, T. H. Linsley, and family over Sunday.

Green Camp.

Profs. Stull and Poland are starting our schools in fine shape. The schools are now carefully graded. We are proud of our schools, but we can't say as much of our school building.

Rev. J. E. Cox announces a special campaign next month after Green Camp sinners. Let us hope that he may get some of us into the gospel net.

One of Marion's handsome printers seems to be powerfully attracted to our village. He is seen at church most every Sunday evening, and he doesn't come alone either.

Candidates are numerous.

Polk Black says his hogs are old and teeth bad, so he put his corn in soak. It is twenty feet under the overflow of the Scioto.

Prof. Stull now has elbow room. He has moved into the big house, north of the school lot.

Eddie Freeland who had his left hand so badly mutilated, losing two fingers and probably three, is doing as well as could be expected.

Our postoffice has been designated a money-order office by the department.

We got no mail from the east on Saturday. Our train service seems to be rather demoralized.

Rev. J. E. Cox has just finished a nice mission quilt. It has sixteen hundred names on it. It will probably realize for the mission cause two hundred dollars.

Much of our bottom lands are overflowed and many acres of corn destroyed.

I hear our sick, Mrs. Reazy Johnston, Mrs. John Johnston and Mrs. Bricker, are somewhat improved in health.

The friends of Mr. Mart L. Hazen think he is the right man for commissioner, and will urge his nomination before the Republican county convention. Mart will have numerous and enthusiastic backers. He is worthy and well qualified for the office.

Sept. 16. P.

He Squandered a Fortune.

A body was found in the waters of New York bay recently which told the story of a life that had been a failure. Burr W. Cuyham was the name the young man bore, and a year and a half ago, when only 30 years old, he inherited a fortune on the death of his father at their home, Glens Falls, N. Y. Despondency, and perhaps a temporary derangement caused by the thought that he had "blown in" a fortune of $30,000 in a year and was now penniless, is thought by a friend of the family to have impelled him to leap to death and drown in the waters of the bay. That was the idea of Mr. Enos B. Smith, the merchant, who was an old time friend of the supposed suicide's father, when seen at his home on West Twenty-third street. It was an envelope on Mr. Smith's letter head inclosing the brief note that led to the search and finding of the body. That is, he was a reply to a message sent by messenger boy to Mr. Smith on Wednesday night asking for a loan of $10. Young Cuyham had called on for the past six months been writing such notes to Mr. Smith. He went recently to New York city and called at Mr. Smith's West Twenty-third street residence to ask for money. Not finding that gentleman in he borrowed fifty cents of a man named Layton. It was the following night he sent for the $10. The suicide was a married man and had two young children.

If bad weather does not interfere with the work seriously, everything will be in readiness for the opening of the annual exhibition, Sept. 30.

A FINE AUDITORIUM.

The Free Baptist Church Is Made Attractive by Paper, Paint and Refurnishing.

After more than a month's closing for repairs, the work is now finished and the auditorium of the Free Baptist church is transformed into one of unusual attractiveness and beauty, making it about the handsomest place of worship in the city.

The ceiling and walls have been handsomely papered and ornamented with choice mouldings and fine borders. In addition to this the seats have been given a bright new finish and the wood work repainted, until the whole has the appearance of a new edifice. The entrance way has come in for its share of the improvements, and the heaters have been put in good order. The ladies, too, have looked after the carpets, adding new ones and brightening the old, so that all in all the church is in rarely good order.

Pastor Hale is certainly much pleased over the transformation, for it is due to his splendid endeavors, and his measure of delight will be full if there is only a good large audience out to attend the reopening next Sunday.

JOE GAITES AGAIN

He is Heard From This Time at Kansas City—May be Caught.

The latest development in the Gaites rascality occurred at Kansas City, Mo., and word was received from that city this morning, which may lead to the young man's capture. The Huber Manufacturing Co. received a telegram from The Avery Planter Co., who are agents for the Huber machinery at Kansas City, asking if Gaites was all right, and stating that he had appeared at the headquarters of the company and asked its representatives to guarantee a draft on the Huber folks, representing himself as still being in their employ.

The young rascal is apparently making fast time in his rounds, with the evident intention of doing up everybody possible. The latest information in regard to his whereabouts will probably lead to his capture, because it is not the intention of the victims of his forgeries to allow him to go unpunished. Mr. Fahey, of Fahey's bank, has telegraphed for his arrest, and he will doubtless be heard from again.

THE INDUSTRIAL COMMITTEE.

A Meeting Held Monday Evening—Plan of Organization to be Submitted.

Several members of the industrial committee, appointed a few weeks ago at a mass meeting held at City Hall, met Monday evening at the office of McNeal & Wolford. The result of the meeting was the appointment of a committee to submit plans of organization at the next meeting, Monday evening, Sept. 22.

The final outcome will be the organization of a board of trade. The committee has several plans under discussion, but that known as the Toledo plan, used by the board of trade in that city, is thought to be the most favorable, and will likely be recommended for adoption by the proposed local board.

At Different Fairs.

This is the season for the county fairs and the Huber company has a half dozen or more threshing outfits on exhibition in different parts of the country, besides the exhibits made by the large dealers in the West. This week's list is as follows:
